Double Feature Opens New Series of Monthly Meetings, October 21

DR. FRED D. MILLER and MR. JAMES ROBINSON, Essayists

"Mouth Health" and "How to Present Dentistry to the Public" are the subjects to be presented at the October Monthly Meeting of the Chicago Dental Society. This meeting will be held in the Red Lacquer Room of the Palmer House, Thursday evening, October 21, at 8 o'clock. After serving most of last year as acting chairman, Dr. B. D. Friedman is continuing this year as the regular chairman of the Program Committee. He will present two of dentistry's ablest speakers for the opening session of what promises to be a brilliant season. Dr. Fred D. Miller of Altoona, Pennsylvania, and Mr. James Robinson of Chicago are the two men who will share the microphone on this occasion. Both have appeared on Midwinter Programs and have a fund of knowledge to divulge.

DR. MILLER

Dr. Miller is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and is on the staff at the Altoona Hospital. He is a past president of the Pennsylvania State Dental Society and a member of the Academy of Restorative Dentistry as well as the Pierre Fauchard Academy. He is a prolific writer and lecturer; one of his articles having been featured in Esquire a few years back. His talk, at the coming meeting, will deal with building and maintaining a healthy mouth. A colored motion picture showing close-up views of thirty patients, with various types of restorative appliances, will be shown. Dr. Miller has a habit of getting down to cases and doesn't care much if he treads on toes.

MR. ROBINSON

Mr. James Robinson is well known to Chicago Dental Society audiences; in fact he has been around dentists so much that he's getting to look like one. His lectures were so well liked in Alabama that he was made an honorary member of the State Dental Society. Although he has appeared before most of the Branches, he is never repetitious and can be counted upon to have plenty of new material to offer. He is so keen about giving dentists just what they want that he has taken a stenographer with him on numerous occasions to take notes of what has transpired and, by so doing, has compiled a record of questions most frequently asked by dental audiences. His theme at the October Meeting will emphasize the great need for building dental values. There is a golden opportunity right now for dental education and it behooves the dentist to make the best of it. The weakest link in the chain of dental office procedure is the presentation of the case to the patient, according to Mr. Robinson, and he will try to point out just how it should be done.—James H. Keith.

Branches Push Dental Hygiene Institute Drive

Under the chairmanship of Dr. Willis J. Bray, the Dental Hygiene Institute's drive for individual memberships from dentists is making progress. Chairmen have been appointed in each of the eight branches of the Chicago Dental Society: North Side, Dr. Clyde C. West; Northwest, Dr. Glenn E. Cartwright; West Side, Dr. Joseph F. Porto; Englewood, Dr. Malcolm P. Brooks; Kenwood-Hyde Park, Dr. Elmer Ebert; South Suburban, Dr. LeRoy T. Rowland; West Suburban, Dr. Robert I. Humphrey; North Suburban, to be appointed.

These men and their committees are vying with each other to see which branch will obtain the greatest number of Institute members, in proportion to its own membership, between now and December 1. At present, Englewood leads.

Concerning the membership drive, Dr. Bray makes the following statement:

"The Dental Hygiene Institute was organized by the Chicago Dental Society to carry on a public relations and publicity program for dentistry. Its educational films, newspaper publicity, Dental Health Week, the industrial program which is just getting under way, and other promotional activities are bringing results, in improved health for the public and increased business for Chicago dentists, which will increase as the program gains momentum.

"There are a number of reasons why this program must be undertaken now, even though dentists may have more work than they can take care of at the present time: (1) A program such as the Institute is undertaking is a long-term one. It will be several years before substantial results are evident. (2) Those who have never had regular dental care must be educated concerning the advantages of regular and adequate care of the teeth at a time when they have money to pay for it. If the habit is established then, it will carry over into the lean times. (3) Dentists are busy now because so many of their fellow practitioners have gone into service. When these men return, they will expect to find patients waiting for them. The Institute's promotional program will help to insure this. Dentists who are Institute members can say to the returning men, 'This is something we did for you while you were away, so that you would have work when you return.' (4) The Institute's program of public education is not entirely selfish. It is a contribution to the health of the community. Good health for the workers on the home front is vitally necessary, now.

"The Branch committees plan to make personal calls on Society members in their areas. Busy as they are, these men are giving their time because they are enthusiastic concerning the work of the Institute and believe that it should have both the financial and the moral support of every member of the Chicago Dental Society.

You can save them the time and trouble of calling on you if you will return the membership application on this page, with your check for $5 for annual dues, to Institute headquarters, or to your Branch chairman."

Objectives of Full Denture Service*

JOHN B. LADUE

Success in any line of endeavor depends entirely upon our own efforts, and the degree of success is judged by the standards we set up to attain. If we are engaged in the practice of dentistry merely for the means of livelihood and our main idea is just to get by, a little thought along this line might be a good thing.

In a majority of practices full dentures occupy the place of a filler-in, just the something that helps to build up a mass of practice. Many men do a very creditable class of dentistry until it comes to denture work, which they shove through in a sloppy, careless way, putting the burden on the adaptability of the patient. If trouble results then denture work becomes a bug-bear.

If we wish to practice the golden rule we will first try to learn to do a thing properly and then apply ourselves to the carrying out, in detail, of our teachings in every case. It has been said that "the things that we like least are those that we know least about." It naturally follows that unless we enjoy doing a thing it is rarely well done.

There is no patient who is more deserving of the best we can do than the edentulous patient. I know of no greater incentive, in the practice of dentistry, than to strive to build a set of dentures that will bring comfort, health and happiness to patients who have been so unfortunate as to lose all their teeth.

The three important results that we hope to obtain in denture construction are comfort, appearance and efficiency. Of these, comfort of course is most important, for without it neither appearance nor efficiency are possible. It is impossible to look pleasant when one is in pain, and efficient mastication is not done when the act is painful. To a great many patients appearance is even more essential than is efficiency. While it sometimes is necessary to sacrifice one for the other, ordinarily it is possible to achieve results that are satisfying from both standpoints.

It is recognized that the final results depend greatly upon the cooperation that the patient gives the dentist. This cooperation for the major part depends upon the education of the patient by the dentist. Every edentulous patient has ideas as to his or her ultimate success as a wearer of dentures. This is based on the experience his or her relatives or friends have had. The operator should be able to recognize the physical conditions that present which tend to limit the result and an explanation should be given the patient in terms that are understandable to the lay mind.

When we appreciate that the efficiency of the highest type of artificial dentures does not exceed forty per cent of that of natural dentures, we realize how easy it is to promise more than we can deliver. This is the one best bet to produce a dissatisfied patient. Always try to hold something in reserve so that you may have a chance to deliver more than is promised.

A fee should be charged that is commensurate with the services rendered. Things in general are apt to be appreciated in ratio to their cost. For instance, you often hear a man elucidate the qualities of his expensive car but rarely those of a flivver. One of the most essential points from the business side of denture construction is to make sure that the dentures are paid for when delivered. When a complaint is made by a patient who has paid in full, you may rest assured that the kick is legitimate. Otherwise you will do considerable wondering.

As to the technical procedure of construction there are many ways of making dentures but all have practically the same basic principles. Some men prefer one technic and some another but close application to any one will bring you

OBITUARY

HUGO G. FISHER 1874-1943

Dr. Hugo G. Fisher, a prominent member and former president of the Chicago Dental Society, died September 18, 1943 at the home of his daughter in Merion, Pennsylvania. He had been in ill health for several months.

Dr. Fisher was born October 15, 1874, on the north side of Chicago. He received his early education in the Chicago Public Schools, and was graduated from the Northwestern Dental School in 1896. He was appointed Demonstrator in the Clinic at Northwestern in 1899, and served in this capacity for several years. Upon his graduation he entered practice in Chicago continuing here until 1905 when he left for Cologne, Germany. He conducted a very large and successful dental practice there, having served many of the Nobility of that time. In 1914 he was elected Secretary of the American Dental Society of Europe. During World War I, he and his family were practically prisoners; although he was permitted to practice, he was compelled to make daily reports to the authorities. As soon as it was possible for him and his family to return to the United States, he did so, although all that he had accumulated during his years of practice in Germany was taken away from him.

In 1919, following World War I, Dr. Fisher returned to Chicago with his family, and resumed practice. He remained here until his retirement about a year and a half ago.

Upon re-entering practice in Chicago in 1919, he became very active in the affairs of the Chicago Dental Society, having served as Chairman of the Exhibit Committee in 1924, Secretary in 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928, and President in 1930. He was associated with various other activities of the Chicago Dental Society, having been a member of the Public Service Committee and the Chairman in 1939-1940. He was Vice President of the Century of Progress Dental Congress which was held in 1933.

Dr. Fisher's interests were directed toward Dental Health Education, and he was particularly interested in the furthering of such education in the public schools of Chicago. Several years ago he became interested in the Allendale School for Boys at Lake Villa, Illinois, where he set up and directed a dental service that proved most efficient and beneficial. This service has continued since Dr. Fisher established it and placed it on such a sound basis. He devoted a great deal of time and energy to the work in this Institution, of which he was a Director.

Dr. Fisher's activities at Northwestern University were many. He served as President of the Dental Alumni Association in 1934 and 1935, as a Director of the Northwestern University Alumni Association for nine years, and as a Director of the Chicago Club of Northwestern Men for several years. He received the Service Award from the Northwestern Alumni Association for outstanding work in 1941.

In 1928 Dr. Fisher was elected to Fellowship in the American College of Dentists. He was a member of the Delta Sigma Delta Fraternity, as well as the Omicron Kappa Upsilon Honorary Fraternity, and for many years a member of the Exmoor Country Club in Highland Park, Illinois, where he resided during his practice in Chicago. Dr. Fisher was a Charter Member of the Chiselers Club of Chicago and was president in 1938.

His interests and activities were not confined to the Chicago Dental Society for he was also active in the affairs of the Illinois State Dental Society and the American Dental Association.

He served dentistry both honestly and sincerely. Those who knew him found his fellowship a pleasure and his friendship enduring.

NEWS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

NO ARMY COMMISSIONS BEYOND 38 YEARS

Official announcement has been made through the Procurement and Assignment Service that Army commissions will not be granted at the present time to men beyond their 38th birthday. This ruling does not apply to the Navy, however, as the Navy Dental Corps is still accepting some men beyond this age. Confusion has arisen because of the suddenness of this change in age limit and because some dentists beyond 38 have been notified by the Procurement and Assignment Service in Washington that they are available for military service and should apply for their commissions. However, these notices were sent before the new age limit was established and those beyond their 38th birthday who have received such notice need not comply for the present as their applications will not be accepted. Further information is not yet available and, of course, the age limit again may be changed.

GENERAL MILLS MADE MAJOR GENERAL

Brigadier General Robert H. Mills has been raised in rank to Major General by order of the President, according to an announcement in the Army Navy Register issued October 2. He will maintain his same post as Dental Surgeon.

This advance marks the first time in history that the Chief of the Dental Corps has had the rank of Major General. The promotion is well deserved and is the result of a concerted effort from many sources to make rank in the Dental Corps more equitable in relation to the Medical Corps.

It has also been announced that Colonel Robert C. Cravens, who has been assistant to the Dental Surgeon, is now stationed in Boston pending overseas duty.

SCHOOL TEACHERS RECEIVE DENTAL PICTORIAL

The Dental Pictorial is being mailed to all of the public and parochial school teachers in Aurora, Illinois. The dentists in that community have contributed funds sufficient to supply a subscription for all teachers. It is planned to place hospital heads and public health workers also on the mailing list. The Dental Pictorial is American Dentistry's new magazine for the public, and is published by the Bureau of Public Relations of the American Dental Association.

COMMUNITY AND WAR DENTAL CAMPAIGN STARTED

The drive to raise $12,806,424 from metropolitan Chicago is underway. An effort is being made to collect one large sum to aid the usual community organizations and the various war service groups such as the United Service Organizations.

Dr. Robert Humphrey has been appointed chairman of the dental division of the drive by President Leo Kremer.

POST GRADUATE ASSEMBLY MAY BE GIVEN IN CHICAGO

An opportunity is being offered to dentists in the Chicago area to have the Post Graduate Assembly on War Medicine and Surgery repeated in the Chicago area. This educational feature is sponsored by the Illinois State Dental Society and is to be held in Rock Island on October 25, East St. Louis on October 27 and Decatur on October 29. Those in charge of the course are willing to make arrangements to hold the

NEWS OF THE BRANCHES

WEST SUBURBAN

As I sit here in the same old office and look out over the same old roof tops with a bright autumn sun casting lengthening shadows over the same old street corner, I am overwhelmed by the urge to see new roof tops, spring flowers, and new corners. Stanley Tylman and his movies of the South American Countries are to blame for this acute attack of wanderlust. Just a year after his trip through these colorful countries he was with us at our first West Suburban Meeting of the year, and opened our eyes to the life of our Latin American Neighbors. Certainly, we could not have had a more informative evening. Viewing the lives of men practicing our own profession in these countries could only be done by a trip such as he made. Colored movies and the ability to catch the tempo of the life of these people made us feel much closer to them . . . It may not be new roof tops, but it will be a new experience for M. G. Juliussen who reported to Camp Grant; Anthony Madonia, now at Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania; George Welk at Willow Run, Ypsilanti, Michigan; Lyle Filek, Cherry Landing, South Carolina; and Paul Topel in Oklahoma . . . We were glad to see new faces among the old at the last meeting. S. A. Lemke of Lemont was out for his first meeting . . . Glad to see that Ellen Sollar is going to brighten the halls of West Suburban . . . Thomas Doyle's son, a student at Chicago Dental College, was with us in one of the new Navy uniforms . . . Capt. W. O. Vopata of Fort Sheridan had his commanding officer Col. Paul Clopper with him.—Karl von der Heydt, Branch Correspondent.

KENWOOD-HYDE PARK

While this report is going to press Kenwood-Hyde Park will be host to the component branches of the Chicago Dental Society for an "All Navy Night" . . . Bud Flavin is going into the Navy. He will leave October 18 for Parris Island. Herb Dangremond is leaving October 11 for Oklahoma City to join the Army Air Corps—Luck to both of ye, my lads . . . Syl Cotter is thinking of putting in another chair in Morgan Park . . . Jim Lynch is sitting on a hot stove these days wondering when the Navy will call on him for his services . . . Willard Johnson is contemplating taking a few weeks to rest up . . . Al Ostrom is at Pearl Harbor, having been transferred from Palmyra Island where he was stationed for two years . . . Les Butler is now at Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania, attending advanced training school there . . . Fred Gethro and his committee have been working on a program this year that should be suitable to all our members. We should attend these meetings and show our old reliable members who carry all the load for us that we are behind them. This is your society, why not benefit by what it can give you? Your practices have all increased, why not increase your ability by what you may hear and see?—Lawrence Johnson, Assistant Branch Correspondent.

NORTH SIDE

Our first North Side meeting was well attended. A pleasurable social half hour beforehand put everyone in a mood to enjoy a good dinner . . . Thanks go to Russell Boothe for the interesting and instructive movie program. Dr. Boothe announced that our next meeting, December 6, would be Navy Night. Capt. F. F. Molt, USNR, will be the speaker and guest of honor . . . Also at this time we announce Ladies Night, January 15, 1944. This will be the gala night of the season, as no social evening is planned for the Midwinter Meeting and guests from all the other branches are invited to attend . . . The shooting season is here again. Some of the boys went to the Dakotas for pheasants. Basil Cupis, Albert Koch and a friend drove to Watertown, South Dakota, and in spite of a run-in with OPA, a shortage of gasoline, and a couple of flat tires, they got their limit of pheasants. Al Koch proved to be the crack shot. Soon now wild duck and geese will be flying south. Our North Side nimrods will be anxious to get at them from boat or blind. There are however two drawbacks: shells and gasoline. Because of a shortage of these, many a duck and goose, that might otherwise grace some hunter's table, will fly right on southward . . . Bernie Blomgren reports that Lt. Frank Blair of Loyola unit, on leave, visited friends at 1005 Belmont Avenue. He was hale and hearty and likes Army life . . . Lt. Roger Stockton, also on leave, called on some of the boys and enjoyed a few days at home and about town . . . Denny Normoyle spent some time in Buffalo, New York, with his son, Don, who is in the Army Air Corps . . . Frank Cardio is in Atlantic, Iowa, out where the tall corn grows, looking after some business interests . . . Joel and Mrs. Arnold are the happy parents of a nine pound boy. Mother and baby are doing fine. Dr. Arnold took his turn in the hospital two weeks before the baby's arrival, but is well again . . . William M. Young says the bowling club will get going about November 15. Past members will be notified by postal card and new members are asked to phone Dr. Young for details . . . O. B. Kibler, fishing in late September at Trout Lake, Wisconsin, caught the prize muskie of the season, length 48 inches, weight 31 pounds. What a thrill!—Z. D. Ford, Branch Correspondent.

NORTH SUBURBAN

Last night I had a dream (not the first one you'll say.) The year was 1950 A.D. and things in general had certainly changed. The peoples of the world seemed to exist as one big happy family. It was now called Itopia. The Supreme President was a fellow named Franklin; the Supreme Vice President was a chap named Winston; the Supreme Com-missar was a comrade named Joe; and the Supreme Generalissimo was a tong named Chiang. The Big Four were seated on magnificent thrones strategically situated at the four corners of the earth. Over the years, I had often wondered what the four corners actually meant. Now, I know. From here, their world was operated and directed through the medium of huge rotating drums on which were mounted myriads of push buttons. Fellows like Harry, Henry Jr., Wendell, Guy, Sol, Cordell, William, Felix, Frank, Louis, Henri, Charles, Anthony, Soong, Ike, Donald, Bernard and Archibald were pushing the buttons and the errant knaves like Adolf, Benito, Hiro and Tojo were running errands. The queen of Itopia was a gal named Eleanor. She was flitting from throne to throne and place to place on a plane which appeared to be a double cross between an Autogiro—Helicopter and a Beeseventeen—Peethirtyeight. Her supernumerary with a similar orbicularis oris spread was named Elizabeth and remained in the shadows. The next scene was slightly blurred; so I must have gotten up in my sleep to put on my glasses because I had them on in the morning. (I have astigmatism; so this was done to clarify the scene, I guess.) This is where you guys came in. Huge plants like Willow Run, Douglas and Buick had been converted into Dental Clinics and instead of bombers, engines etc., patients were rolling off the assembly lines. Dentists in all phases of practice were operating machines which turned out the finished products. Needless to say, the patients were selected carefully in the sorting bins and fed to the machines on endless belts. After the operations were completed the patients were shoved down a contraption which was a combination of chute-the-chute and roller coaster. This seemed to be fun for all of them. As they were checked out, each was given a nice big government check for having had his dental ills corrected. This dream strikes me as being ominous. How about you? . . . The Willard McEwens are the proud parents of an eight pound baby boy. He was named after his uncle, Ensign Robert McEwen of the U. S. Navy, who gave his life for his country while on active duty in the South Pacific War Theatre . . . Paul Wilcox has decided to learn the mysteries of orthodontics at Northwestern University's Dental School . . . Claude Richards has two sons in the service. His second son, 1st Lt. Stan, of the Dental Corps, is now supply officer at Camp Polk, Louisiana . . . According to the local papers, Lt. George Schnath is in line for a permanent assignment in Oceanside, California, with the Navy . . . Randall Wescott's son, Charles, is now at Camp Grant with the Army . . . A first lieutenantcy arrived in the mail for Hilary Marcin. On October 8, he reported for duty at Omaha, Nebraska . . . Triplets (cigars that is) were passed out to the Evanston Association of Dentists—Bill Rusch, granddad; Willard McEwen, dad; Claude Richards, just plain grand . . . We are sorry to inform you of the death of beloved Hugo Fisher. We all mourn his passing. To the bereaved family, North Suburban's officers and members extend their profound sympathy . . . Radar is really the stuff. First to succumb to its magic powers was Englewood's Webster Byrne (rhymes with burn). Next came West Side's Kretshmer. And say, did you notice what effect it had on West Suburban's von der Heydt last fortnight?—Frederick T. Barich, Branch Correspondent.

NORTHWEST

A fine program is waiting for all Northwest Siders at our new meeting place, 2451 Kedzie Blvd. The business meeting will begin at 8:00 p.m. Our program chairman, P. A. Wlodkowski, has secured Miss Bessems to present the Dental Hygiene Institute's new movie "The Mortons Make Some Changes." M. K. Hine, Associate Professor of Oral Pathology at the University of Illinois Dental School, will speak on "Gingivitis and Vincent's Disease." If your REVIEW reaches you on the same day as mine, the above should take place tonight, October 15 . . . Irv Neer has had a few changes take place. First, the moving of his office to the Klee Building, and second—it's a brand new boy at home . . . Abe Kastel has just returned from a fishing spree . . . Ben Davidson fished too, but for better cards at a bridge tournament held at Green Bay. His hooks weren't quite sharp enough to bring in a prize.—Folmer Nymark, Branch Correspondent.

WEST SIDE

Several members of the Arcolian Dental Arts Society had received their call to the armed services simultaneously and it was decided a special meeting would be held. At this meeting a little token was presented to Dr. James De Biase, Dr. J. A. Josh, and Dr. L. J. Madonia. Dr. De Biase reported to Ellington Field, Houston, Texas, on October 4; Dr. Josh received orders to proceed to Will Rogers Field, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, on October 11 and Dr. Madonia reported to Carlisle, Pennsylvania, on September 23. Other members who are already in service will also receive appropriate gifts . . . Our fellow correspondent, George Vogt, recently spent his vacation at his father-in-law's grape farm in Indiana. George says he "helped with the picking," didn't say how many he ate . . . A. F. Stark spent ten days in Lake Geneva, Wisconsin . . . J. G. Arden spent ten days up at Marquette, Michigan. Trust you enjoyed it J. G. . . . The Committee members of the West Side branch held a meeting on September 21, to map a plan for activities for the coming year . . . The West Siders recently crept into the Dental Hygiene Institute by selecting a committee to function in that group. The Institute will present its new film at the first meeting. Every west sider who wishes to do so is invited to apply for membership at the earliest date possible. Each member will receive literature monthly on current activities. The Institute is developing plans by which every Chicagoan will in some way become acquainted with its activities. As you may well remember, the Institute was instrumental in presenting Chicago with its first Dental Health Week. Those who wish to become members may communicate with the committee which is composed of J. F. Porto, chairman, L. J. Cahill, vice-chairman, Louis Postilion, G. F. Vogt, G. R. Walls, L. J. White, and S. R. Kleiman . . . This last line always reminds me of "The Wake Of The News" when we read that the next column will be conducted by Dr. H. S. Melichar, who can be reached at Lawn-dale 0727.—Vincent P. Vivirito, Assistant Branch Correspondent.

The Per Capita Consumption of Sugar:—World production of raw sugar in 1939 was not far from 35 million tons. Of this nearly 22 million tons came from the sugar cane and considerably more than 12 million tons from the sugar beet. The United States and its island possessions produced about 5½ million tons. Louisiana and Florida are the leading cane sugar states; California and Colorado, the chief beet sugar states. In the United States the per capita consumption of sugar rose from about 40 pounds a year (raw value) in the decade 1870-1879 to 107 pounds in 1920-1929 but dropped back to 102 pounds for the period 1930-1939. In prewar years several other countries reported still higher consumption of sugar, but the figures are not available at present. The world average sugar consumption was reported to be 30½ pounds per capita for the season 1939-1940, i.e. for one year. The desirability of such a large consumption of sugar in the United States is doubtful. Sugar supplies about one sixth of the calory intake and hence displaces the consumption of less refined foods that would carry minerals and vitamins as well as energy.—Peterson, William H.; Skinner, John T., and Strong, Frank M.: Elements of Food Biochemistry, New York, Prentice-Hall, Inc., 1943. J.A.M.A. 122:423, 1943 (June 12).

American-Soviet Medical Society Formed:—Dr. Walter B. Cannon, professor emeritus of physiology, Harvard Medical School, Boston, is the president of the American-Soviet Medical Society, a new group founded to meet an increasing demand for information about the results and achievements of Soviet medicine. Dr. Henry E. Sigerist, director of the Institute of the History of Medicine at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, is the editor of a journal to be published by the society and to be known as the American Review of Soviet Medicine. Temporary offices of the society are at 130 West 46th Street, New York. Through meetings, the publication of a journal and the establishment of a library of information, the society will tell physicians of America and members of the allied professions on what problems Soviet colleagues are working and what is being done to solve these problems. The society will also send American medical books and periodicals to the Soviet Union to keep the Russians informed of scientific developments in this country and to stimulate closer cooperation between the medical corps of the two countries. As soon as conditions permit after the war, the society hopes to promote the exchange of students and scientists and to sponsor study hours in the two countries. J.A.M.A. June 12, 1943. Vol. 122, p. 457.

Infantile Paralysis:—The normal and usual method of travel of the virus throughout the body is reported to be by the pathways provided by the nerves. This is a neurotrophic or neuronotrophic virus. It leaves no demonstrable histologic change as it travels over or through the nerve fibers, yet its spread by way of neurons is dependent on healthy normal fibers and nerve cells. For example, it cannot progress in nerve tissue that has not fully regenerated after traumatic changes. The rate of the progression of the virus in peripheral nerves to the central nervous system has been calculated by Howe and Bodian to be at the rate of 2.4 mm. per hour in the experimental animal. Such travel occurred in both the motor and the sensory fibers.—Gudakunst, Don W.: New Developments in Infantile Paralysis, New York State J. Med. 43:1514 (Aug. 15) 1943. Via J.A.M.A. 123:264, 1943 (Oct. 5).

DENTAL DILEMMA . . . .

"On the horns of a dilemma" — an old saying come true in dentistry: more patients to attend, but the same hours on the clock. A practical answer to this puzzle is to increase your operative time by shifting the burden of "lab" work to your Vitallium Laboratory.

AUSTENAL MICROMOLD TEETH

"Feel like natural teeth in the mouth"

To appreciate genuine naturalness, one must observe Austenal Teeth in the oral environment . . . see them in relationship to approximating vital teeth in the patient's mouth.

Then the microscopic anatomical and surface details of the reproduced teeth and the true harmony with natural teeth can be studied. The form and texture look like vital teeth and the gradation of color from incisal to gingival is imperceptible as in natural teeth.

A Note-worthy Conclusion

IF YOU SAVE $5.00 on material and lose $10.00 in time—that is not good business.

YOUR TIME—yes, even the technician's time is worth more today. That is only one reason why partials are being cast of GOLD.

When you consider the exceptional qualities of gold, surely it is to your advantage to say gold—DEE GOLD—to your dealer and laboratory.
